Biography Project: Due Wednesday, April 2

We have been reading many biographies over the past month from picture books to the Who Was/Who Is chapter book series. Hopefully your child has come home and shared what they've learned about a person in history. We've discussed how the time period affected the person's life, analyzed how the key events in a person's life shapes who they are, and we've formed opinions about a person's life choices and agreed or disagreed with the choices they made.

Your child has chosen _____ to present to the class.

Here is where you can help:

Help your child brainstorm how to present their information. Here are a few ideas:

- A poster
 - Dress up as the person
 - Write a newspaper article about the person
 - A clay display
 - A mobile
 - A visual of your choice that relates to your person's life
- The visual must include:
 - the person's date of birth and date of death or what they are doing now
 - 2-3 things that made them famous
 - 2 fun facts

The goal is to teach the class about this person.

Your child has read about this person in history and has collected information about them. A notes page will come home to assist with the project. In class, we will be discussing ways to present information and how to speak in front of a group.

Thank you for your support,
